Stephanie Raizon is a forensic accountant with almost 10 years of experience. She has assisted the named expert on numerous occasions.

Stephanie has performed damages analyses for increased costs and lost profits and has assisted in preparing expert reports and subsequent testimony in various matters. She has experience in litigation (including Court of Federal Claims and state and district courts), arbitration, mediation, and bid protests before the Government Accountability Office.

Stephanie is experienced in increased costs, False Claims Act allegations, contract terminations, and compliance issues, including analysis and review of indirect rates, preparing incurred cost submissions, and responding to DCAA audit requests and reports for government contractors. She has assisted nuclear utilities with spent fuel litigation and settlements, various decommissioning cost analyses, the preparation of regulatory filings, and preparing for hearings before the Public Utility Commission.

Stephanie specializes in accounting and financial analyses related to US government contractors and utilities, including but not limited to False Claims Act investigations, bid protests and cost damages analyses. She has experience with government contract compliance matters related to the Federal Acquisition Regulation (FAR) and Cost Accounting Standards (CAS).

Stephanie holds a bachelor's in finance and accounting and is a Certified Management Accountant. She is a member of the Institute of Management Accountants (IMA).
